VANGUARD™ CARBON

The Vanguard™ collection welcomes a new innovative model: the first Franck Muller® timepiece featuring a case made from carbon. This material widely used in aviation, military and aeronautic is considered as being extremely strong and light. The carbon fibers give the Vanguard watch a new contemporary style. The machining process is delicate as the whole case including the tapping is crafted out of a mass of carbon.

More than ever the new Vanguard carbon watch unfurls the modern and futuristic features of masculinity. This technical watch embellished with yellow details renew this timekeeper's elegant and harmonious vision.

This luxury timepiece dedicated to men is a perfect match between harmonious design and pioneering technology.

This timepiece is fitted on a Nylon strap with colored stitches and rubber inside. The Vanguard carbon watch is a new chapter in Franck Muller's story of modern and innovative watches.
